

BINGHAM GIVES SECRETARY RANK ABOVE DEPUTIES

Book of Rules Makes Slattery Actual Commander in His Absence.

GAG FOR WHOLE FORCE.

Commissioner Will Do All the Talking, and Interviews Are Tabooed.

The new Book of Rules of the Police Department was issued to-day and will be put into force at midnight on Wednesday next.

"George B. McEllan, commander-in-chief, ex-officio," the book starts off, after which elaborate tribute from Commissioner Bingham to the Mayor, it gives in detail the various men and officers of the force and their assignments. According to the book, there are 10,000 uniformed men and officers on duty in New York to-day. There are 8,500 patrolmen.

Getting down to the matter of police rules, the book distinctly prohibits any deputy from taking for publication, being interviewed or making public speeches without the express permission of the Commissioner. The use of the telephone is strictly prohibited by any but members of the Department, and patrolmen will in future have to act their police stations through Headquarters, which is to be used, with present "tapping off" to the station-house for any information regarding the Commissioner's movements.

Patrolmen are prohibited from discussing their personal affairs or any topic but police business with each other or anyone else during the hours that they are on duty, and this means, too, it is said.

An order that directed a good deal of comment was one relating to Secretary Slattery, it practically makes him the head of the force in the Commissioner's absence, over the heads of the First and Second Divisions. His orders are to be obeyed absolutely, says the rule. If the officer to whom they are issued doesn't think they are right, he is to carry them out first and then bring his complaint to the Commissioner to be adjudicated.

"Well, the force is muzzled all right now," said one grizzled old policeman after he had read the book through, "but there's a lot of the rules that won't be observed enough to hurt."

TRAIN WRECKERS FOILED.

Man Who Found Them at Work Signalled Express Just in Time.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 21.—John Essinger, an aged farmer living along the Cumberland Valley Railroad, near White Hill, a station seven miles southwest of Harrisburg, told a name of train wreckers early to-day. Essinger, who is a sufferer from rheumatism, was unable to sleep, and was looking out of the window at his home, which is close to the tracks, when he saw men tinkering along the tracks without any lights.

When he stepped out of his house and asked them what they were doing, the men ran, leaving windows flying on the track. The Cumberland Valley Railroad was shut about five miles, and Essinger, seeing a switch lantern waved it and flagged the train. Five minutes later, a train came, and the wreckers had been working on the rails of the hospital when the train came.

AUTO "SACRIFICER" FEARED SNAKE BITE

The mysterious Edward F. Moore, arrested by Central Office detectives at his home, No. 19 West Ninety-eighth street, for an alleged automobile swindle game, was held in default of $2,000 bail for further examination in the Jefferson Market Court to-day by Magistrate Cornell.

This attachment gives the police time to look into several matters which appear to cause Mr. Moore's concern. These were the finding of a gray and several bottles of narcotics and a hypodermic syringe in the prisoner's room, together with some correspondence which indicates that Moore was looking for clients in the country districts.

Moore's plan was to advertise an expensive car, which he claimed he was obliged to sacrifice, and he always used those who answered to bring their money with them.

There were letters from Dr. F. M. Lowe, of Newton, Mass., whose complaint to Commissioner Bingham resulted in Moore's arrest. There was a letter from N. M. George, of No. 59 Fairview avenue, Danbury, Conn., making an appointment with Moore at the offices of Flower & Co., No. 49 Broad street. Another letter was from Charles S. Rice, of No. 106 William street, Philadelphia, and the police also came upon a letter from Moore to a woman, typewritten, which read:

"I loved and thoroughly understood. Moore told the detectives that he used the narcotics on rattlesnake bites when he went hunting. He disclaimed ownership of the wig. The revolver neither bothered nor disturbed him unless you interfere with someone's legitimate business."

The Federal authorities want Moore for alleged fraudulent use of the mails, and should nothing more serious be fastened upon the prisoner by the local authorities he will be turned over to the postal officers.

FOR PIMPLES, TOO.

New Discovery Cures Eczema and Eruptions Minor Skin Troubles Overnight.

A few months ago the dispensers of poslam, the new discovery for the cure of eczema, decided to allow the druggists of the country to handle it. Previous to that time it could only be obtained direct from the laboratory.

Since this change in the method of distribution, poslam has met with the most phenomenal success of any thing introduced to the drug trade in the last 30 years. All leading druggists, including Riker's and Hegeman's, in New York and Brooklyn, are now carrying the special formula, which was recently adopted, also the $2 jar.

This great success is not surprising when it is remembered that, in eczema cases, poslam stops the itching with first application, proceeds to heal immediately, and cures chronic cases in a few weeks. In minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, acne, herpes, blotches, rash, etc., results show after an overnight application. Experimental samples of poslam are sent to any one by mail free of charge, by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York City.
